Monument-Rescuer

Now the MS UNDINE is back to Rostock. Thanks to the commitment of many people, the Saal shipyard in Dresden, the Hanseatic City of Rostock, and the Baltic Sea Savings Bank of Rostock (OSPA) we could not only save the ship from the worst but even more set the course for a permanent future perspective in the city the ship was once constructed at 104 years ago.

The next planned big step is the rehabilitation of the hulk at a respective shipyard. Ultimately, not for the next seagoing journey, but for memorable presentation and usage at land side. There is a wide range of ideas and at least two mooring options at land. Currently, possible scenarios are being discussed together with persons in charge for heritage and culture. Frankly, what would be better than integrating the MS UNDINE in Rostock's landscape of cultural heritage as a representative for the city's kaleidoscopic maritime history?

Please, support us with your donation in our efforts to save a distinctive maritime monument and signifier of Rostock's shipbuilding and coastal passenger shipping history.
